	Iraqi spokesmen have been pressing for union in the past week. However, with the UK Foreign Office opposed to the union and with some Jordanian opposition, there seems to be little chance that it will be arranged now. Although the UK has generally favored the creation of a single Arab State in this part of the Near East, the strong opposition of Syria and Israel as well as that of other Arab countries, makes the US hesitant to push the idea at this time.
